GIVES LECTURE ON JEWS

Prof. H. B. Almstedt traces development of Yiddish language.

A large audience heard Prof. Hermann B. Almstedt's lecture on "Jews in Literature," delivered before the Menorah Society Friday night in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. Prof. Almstedt traced the development of the Yiddish language. He asserted that the Slavic Jews were the preservers of the Yiddish dialect which originated in Frankfurt, Germany. These Russian and Galician Jews were responsible for the foundation of the present Yiddish literature, although German Jews, Mendelssohn, Heine and Boerne gave the necessary stimulus to Jewish creative art.

"President Wilson," said Professor Almstedt, "gave beneficial advice to scientists when he warned them 'Scientists, prepare for oblivion unless you become artists.' Heine evidently was in accord with this truth, when he gave scientific facts in poetic pictures."

A short business meeting followed the lecture at which the Menorah Society pledged its moral support to the building of a Jewish Social Center for the Jews of Columbia. President Sam A. Schell emphasized the significance of such a house to the Jewish students and made an appeal for the uniting of all members of the race to accomplish this purpose.

SAVITAR ON SALE NOV. 1-6

Kansas Students Attempting to Outsell M. T. on Annals.

The Jayhawkers are doing their best to live the "Beat Missouri" spirit. Not only do they have hopes of beating Missouri in football but they want to beat Missouri in the sales of their annual. The Jayhawker, University of Kansas annual, has ordered paper for 2,000 annuals, which is the same amount as that ordered for the Savitar, according to the Hugh Stephens Publishing Company, Jefferson City, which will print both books.

The Jayhawkers management was surprised to learn the number of Savitars would run that high. Now they are putting on a campaign to "Beat Missouri" in annual sales.

The Varsity A girls of K. U. are in charge of the sale of the Jayhawker.

"The Varsity A girls want to beat Missouri the worst way," said their campaign manager, "and if our seventeen salesmen can do it, the Tiger annual is going to be second best in the point of subscription."

The Savitar goes on sale during the week of November 1 to 6. There will be no Savitar Queen contest this year as there has been in the past, but the annual will be sold through the various school departments and through the Ad Club. The same spirit that prevails in the Jayhawker campaign will prevail in the Savitar campaign, only it will be the "Beat Kansas" spirit.

Sapp Makes Tax Assessments.

P. H. Sapp, county assessor, returned to Columbia Friday night from Centralia and its vicinity, where he spent the last week making assessments for the state and county taxes. The work of the entire county will be finished within the next few days, at which time Mr. Sapp and his deputies will start making up the real estate and personal assessment books of the county.

Eastern School To Use Deskbook.

Mrs. W. B. Dunwoody of Joplin, Mo., returned to her home Saturday after visiting her daughter, Miss Frances Dunwoody, at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house.

A house meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. Building Friday night to discuss plans for a closer organization of the Y. M. C. A. men in the University and to make plans for a social program for the winter. An elaborate entertainment is planned for Halloween.

E. J. Allen, supervising officer of training from the St. Louis office of the Federal Board for Vocational Rehabilitation, went to St. Louis yesterday. He has been in Columbia in connection with his work since Thursday.

Jackson County students organized Friday afternoon. The officers elected are: President, Hugh Triplett; vice-president, Marguerite Barnett; secretary, Max Pennington; treasurer, Houston St. Clair; Ad Club representative, R. W. Dryden.

Episcopal students of the University will give a Halloween party Friday evening, November 5. Miss Margaret Houston was appointed chairman of the committee at Sunday evening's student gathering at 809 Hollins street. Next week's musical program is in charge of Horatio Moore, with Miss Mary Phleger, chairman of refreshments committee. Miss Ruth Ramsey was appointed chairman of the finance committee.

R. Lee Pace, a graduate of the School of Journalism, who has been visiting at the Dana Press Club for the last few days, left for his home in Nevada, Mo., Saturday. Mr. Pace has been connected with the United Press in Chicago during the last few months. After a short visit at his home, he will leave for Colorado Springs, Colo., to take a position with the El Paso County Democrat.

Pemberton Blatter, a former student in the School of Journalism, spent the week-end at the Dana Press Club. Mr. Blatter has just returned from an extended tour on the Redpath Chautauque Circuit through the East and Middle West with Dunbar's White Hussar Singing Band. He expects to go to Chicago this week where he will join the same organization for an engagement on the Orpheum Vaudeville Circuit. Mr. Blatter expects to re-enter the School of Journalism for the winter term.

The Rev. J. H. George to Texas.

The Rev. J. H. George left last night to attend the Provincial Synod of the Episcopal Church being held in Waco, Tex. The Reverend Mr. George was elected a delegate at the St. Louis convention last year. He will return Friday night.

NO DROP IN COAL PRICES HERE

Cold Wave Would Bring Shortage, Says W. J. Watson.

That there can be no material reduction in the price of coal in Columbia this winter and that there is grave danger of a shortage at any price is the opinion of W. J. Watson of the Davis & Watson Coal Company.

"It is folly to expect a radical drop in coal prices this fall or winter with conditions as they are," said Mr. Watson this morning. "On the contrary, there is every reason to expect a substantial increase. People in Columbia are getting their coal on the average $2 a ton cheaper than in most other places. This is largely due to the fact that Columbia dealers have not paid the premium necessary to get a normal supply."

"If this weather continues for thirty days it will give people a chance to get a little ahead, but if the weather should turn cold now the available supply would not begin to meet the demand."

"By a ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission last spring preference is still being given to the New England and northwestern states because they suffered more than any others the preceding winter. That means that Missouri and the Middle West would not get a normal supply even if there were normal production. Reports from Washington show that production of coal every week is falling below the tonnage required. In Illinois especially production is little more than 50 per cent of normal."

"Dealers in the East are paying any price asked for coal in order to get it. Operators sell it where they get the most money. They are making up this year for the failure to make large profits under government control. The export of coal is larger this year than ever before because foreign countries are paying $2 above the market to get it."

"If a cold wave should strike this section there is little doubt that a severe shortage would exist and coal would have to be rationed."

Dr. C. A. Ellwood to Lecture.

Dr. Charles A. Ellwood will give a lecture on "Free Speech in a Democracy" at the meeting of the Constructive Christian Democracy Club Monday evening.

AT THE THEATERS

COLUMBIA, tonight and Tuesday: Charles Ray, in the part of a stuttering salesman who took so long to tell his story that the order was placed elsewhere, will appear tonight and tomorrow in one of his latest pictures entitled, "Alarm Clock Andy." An account of Hitchy Koo at the Columbia Theater tomorrow night, the pictures will be moved to the Hall Theater for this day only, matinee and evening. In addition, there will be shown a Fox Sunshine comedy, entitled, "Through the Keyhole."

HALL, Friday and Saturday: Norma Talmadge makes her first appearance in this city for some time when she comes to the Hall Theater for this week end in all her alluring beauty and undeniable "Yes or No," a picture in which she plays a dual role. The "yes girl" fought with charm from the tie that bound her to an unhappy marriage. The "no girl" fought with brute strength that she might keep the altar pledge, "To Honor." A Mack Sennett comedy, "Her Last False Step" will be shown.

IF THE COVERS FEEL TOO SWEET AT 6 A. M., REMEMBER THE MILKMAN

You students who sleep through your 8 o'clock classes, you business men who find it hard to get to work at 8 o'clock, and scores of others who curse your luck at having to get up so early—how would you like to be the milkman?

The milkman leaves the plant at about 6 o'clock. Now begin with 6 o'clock, subtract ten minutes for stretching and deciding that he had better get up; twenty minutes for putting on his O. D. shirt, his khaki breeches, his high boots, and running his fingers through his hair; fifteen minutes for eating; three minutes for kissing friend wife goodbye; fifteen minutes to get to the plant; fifteen minutes for harnessing the team; and twenty minutes for loading the wagon, and you have the exact hour of that dreadful ordeal, of getting up. It is just twenty-two minutes after four.

The milkman says that during the summer it isn't so bad. It is getting light anyway, and the cool of the morning is the best time to work. The spring and fall are not so objectionable either for the early riser, but oh! ! ! * * * !—these dark, cold, sullen mornings of midwinter! there's the rub. The milkmen are unanimous in their decision that theirs is not the choicest of jobs during the winter months. It is then that the great outdoors turns against them and becomes their enemy. The icy pavements make driving undesirable, and to slip with one hand full of milk bottles and the other trying to thaw out a partly frozen ear is no pleasing sensation.

If the milkman comes around at 11:30 when he is due at 7:30, his alibi that his horse slipped and broke a leg, is looked upon with suspicion, and the housewife tries to get a smell of his breath. If the milk sours quickly the driver gets the blame. If the cream does not come up to expectations in quantity or quality, it is the fault of the milkman who delivered it. He is a trouble shooter in the nth degree.

Practice has made him a diplomat. He must please. If he loses his temper he loses a customer; if he loses too many customers he may lose his job. Therefore, he is more than the man who delivers your milk. He is a student of human nature whose motto is "Keep Smiling," until he gets out on the wagon.

NO VIOLATORS OF SCHOOL LAW

Compulsory Attendance Law Now Observed in Boone County.

Boone County parents are observing the compulsory school attendance law, according to C. E. Northcutt, county superintendent of schools.

The law requires that every child between the ages of 7 and 14 must attend school. Every child between the ages of 14 and 16 must attend school, unless he is regularly and usefully employed.

Children may be excused from school attendance by the attendance officer, H. H. King, if they are mentally or physically unable to attend or if they have completed the common school course and have a certificate of graduation.

The penalty for violations of the law is a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $25, or imprisonment for from two to ten days, or both fine and imprisonment.

Soon after the opening of school, eighty-six violations of the law were reported to the attendance officer. All but fourteen of the children concerned are now in school, and these have been excused from attendance.

Reports of non-attendance are sent in every week by the teachers of the schools who have the enumeration list of all children who should attend.

Dr. J. E. Jordan Resumes Practice.

Dr. J. E. Jordan, who was injured two weeks ago by a motor car, has recovered from his injuries. He has been up for the last few days and is now able to attend to his practice.
